2019.044 Junior Yearly Meeting 2019

We have received a report from Rosie Gilbert and Sammy Gilbert describing their experiences at JYM, which was held at the Frontier Centre in Northamptonshire from the 12th-15th April. The theme of 'Diversity and Inclusivity,' asking the question: 'How can we use our ideals to change our reality?' was explored in various creative ways. Participants were encouraged to recognise and examine the different aspects of privilege they enjoyed and at a business meeting for worship wrote a minute addressing the question: 'What is our reality as a Quaker community and how does our privilege affect how we understand it?'

We thank Rosie and Sammy for their report, which is filed alongside the text of the JYM Epistle we heard in our opening worship.

2019.045 CEQ Low Carbon Commitment Forum (LCCF)

We have received the minute of the LCCF which met this morning.

MINUTE TO AREA MEETING

The CEQ Low Carbon Commitment forum met this morning before area meeting and considered the 'climate emergencies' being declared by local councils.

In November 2018, the councils of two major cities, Bristol and Manchester, passed motions declaring a 'climate emergency' and setting targets aiming to become carbon neutral by 2030 and 2038 respectively. Since then 59 councils across the UK have declared climate emergencies.

We have read the draft motion being put to a full Birmingham City Council meeting in early June and believe other councils are also declaring emergencies. The forum has also learned that Footsteps - Faiths for a Low Carbon Future is sending a letter supporting the motion to Councillors Zafar and Cotton. The letter will be endorsed by a wide and diverse range of community faith leaders as well, it is hoped, the Birmingham Faith Leaders group.

The forum discussed the draft motion this morning and supports the Footsteps initiative. It hopes that area meeting will ask one of its clerks to sign the letter alongside the other Birmingham community faith leaders.

We agree that one of the area meeting clerks should add their signature on our behalf to the letter to Birmingham City Council referred to. We attach a copy of the letter to the minute.

2019.046 Registering Officers (ROs)

Sarah Evans and John Sheldon have sent us a report on a training course for ROs attended by Sarah and an annual conference that they both attended.

John Sheldon has spoken to us on an issue needing consideration. At present, Central England Area Meeting has delegated authority for local meetings to conduct marriages without the ROs having to seek permission from AM at the beginning of the process. Hence the responsibility lies with the RO and the LM concerned and means that AM may be unaware that a wedding is taking place until the certificate of accomplishment is sent to them. It seems that very few, if indeed any other area meeting, delegates its authority in this way. In two places in QF&P, (16.43 and 4.10.o) it states that area meetings should regularly review the delegation of such permission.

On reflection we agree to continue to delegate responsibility to our LMs for appointing a meeting for worship for the solemnisation of a marriage, rather than adding another layer to the process. We would welcome the advance notice at AM level of any impending marriage.

2019.047 Trustee Matters

Judith Jenner, clerk to trustees, has laid before us the proposal by trustees to employ someone to support the day to day work of our charity and ensure that we are compliant with the legal requirements laid upon us. Many tasks carried out by trustees and service committees could be done by such an employee, the key criterion for such a role being anything that a suitably qualified person could manage that does not require making policy decisions. Much of the work presently covered by the treasurer to trustees also falls into this category; where there are grey areas the employee could seek guidance in how to proceed.

We agree in principle to using a paid professional and ask trustees to investigate the practical considerations of such a venture and report back to a future area meeting.
